HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H R Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense We have concluded to [illegible] use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent for to be considered the best in use

The decline in the price of many articles since gold was over 200 has been great, but the decline with the retail dealers for articles of daily household consumption is very slight, while the rents keep up as near the figures of three years ago as they can be held. There would seem to be no reason that while gold has declined 100 per cent meat and butter, lard and coffee, and so many other articles of daily consumption should not have fallen 20 per cent from what they were in 1864 Is it not about time there was an appreciable reduction in prices of these articles?

FOREIGN NOTES

There is some talk in London of starting a great international financial paper The capital is fixed at £250,000 half of which is said to have been already subscribed. The object of the scheme is to kill the Times

The husband of the ex Queen of Spain is not such a nonentity as he has been set down for On the ground that his wife is no longer Queen he has laid claim in a Paris court to the entire control of their joint property Isabella insists that she is still Queen and objects to resign the control of her immense wealth

The Spectator says that Tobias Hobson was the first man in England that let out hackney horses When a man came for a horse he was led into the stable where there was a great choice but he obliged him to take the horse which stood next to the stable door so that every customer was alike well served according to his chance, from whence it became a proverb when what ought to be your election was forced upon you to say Hobson s choice

A remarkable piece of modern Quixotism is related by the Dresden Nachrichten Near Altschatz there is an old wind mill the sails of which according to its owner make sixty revolutions in a minute during strong wind A youthful Count who is at present serving in the Prussian army asked the miller to be allowed to ride his horse between the sails when they were going round at full speed The miller granted the request and the youthful Don Quixote urged his steed at full speed toward the whirling sails Strange to say the horse was only slightly grazed on the haunch by one of the sails The rider who had set his life upon this feat escaped unhurt

STORM SIGNALS FOR THE BENEFIT OF COMMERCE—The Chicago Republican of March 24th says the following public resolution and orders were published from the War Department on Wednesday last

Be it resolved By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled That the Secretary of War be, and hereby is authorized and required to provide for taking meteorological observations at the military stations in the interior of the continent and at other points in the States and Territories of the United States and for giving notice on the Northern lakes and on the seacoast by magnetic telegraph and marine signals of the approach and force of storms

Approved Feb 9 1870

The chief signal officer of the army is charged subject to the direction of the Secretary of War with the special duties of the observations and giving notice by telegraph and signal of the approach and force of storms under the provisions of this resolution The duty thus imposed upon the Secretary of War is for the benefit of the commerce of the United States It is therefore expected that all commanding officers will afford every facility for its successful discharge, and all scientific establishments commercial associations and others are requested to aid by their co-operation in its accomplishment

Quick Transportation of Freight

[illegible] in the method of transporting freight [illegible] ocean [illegible] by the facilities supplied in the great railway lines now spanning the continent An instance in point occurs in the conveyance of the cargo of tea brought from Yokohama by the ship Bene[illegible] to San Francisco The owners Messrs A A Low & Co telegraphed her captain to sail from Japan after his ship was fully laden to San Francisco instead of New York as had been previously arranged Arriving at the metropolis of California, the entire cargo consisting of eleven thousand packages of tea was immediately placed aboard the California Fast Freight Line and dispatched to New York being partially distributed at Chicago and other points by the way A glance at the time occupied in this matter will be instructive and give occasion for some reflection The ship s passage from Yokohama to San Francisco was made in 26 days the time from San Francisco to New York was 15 days allowing in all only 41 days for a full cargo consigned in Japan to be delivered in New York. From New York to London is say twelve days, which would make the time necessary for a consignment to reach England from Japan but fifty-three days all told Such figures demonstrate more powerfully than any treatise the marvelous progress of science the immense saving of time and the great revolution in the Chinese and Japanese trade effected by the construction of the Pacific roads The annexed telegram shows still further how near Boston is to the California cities It being stated that a consignment has been received at Sacramento in fifteen days from this city It reads as follows

SACRAMENTO March 9 1870

"To G T Nutter agent California Fast Freight Line, 229 Broadway New York Freight is coming through by your line in seventeen 17) and eighteen (18) days One consignment, for Levi Strauss & Co received in fifteen (15) days from Boston

A N TOWNE
General Superintendent C P R R

The above is proof sufficient of the capacity and inestimable value of these roads Seventeen days from New York and fifteen from Boston bring California almost within hailing distance or at least make it practically a suburb of the East instead of a distant country requiring a passage around the Horn or transit across the Isthmus

Arrangements have been made by which all foreign goods arriving at New York or Boston are taken through to the Pacific coast in bond The California Fast Freight Line makes the regular transit with only one transfer via the Chicago and Northwestern Railway and Union and Central Pacific Railroad Mr T G Nutter is the efficient agent for the East, his office being at No 229 Broadway, New York Mr W E McCormick is the contracting agent. Mr. John Hooking, agent of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway in this city will transact any business relating to transportation by this line at the office of the agency, No 7 State street. These gentlemen are all thoroughly efficient and experienced in their business and will be found extremely courteous in rendering any information pertaining to it —Boston Post

American Press Association

The new organization in which the Evening Bulletin has united with the Day, Post Star Herald and the Sunday papers of Philadelphia, and with a number of influential journals in Boston, New York, Newark Baltimore, and other places, is lengthening its cords and strengthening its stakes in the most satisfactory manner The old monopoly of the Associated Press not only [illegible] us very imperfectly, but charged us very exorbitant rates for what news it did supply, and our readers must be abundantly satisfied that we have served them well by cutting loose from the fossilized Associated Press and supplying them with the greatly-increased variety of news from all parts of the world with which our telegraphic columns are now daily crowded

The American Press Association is as yet in its infancy but it is extending its operations with great energy and as a natural result is rapidly attracting the notice and securing the support of the press throughout the country Especially at the West and Southwest are its advantages appreciated and we have almost daily notice of fresh additions to the list of its patrons. Among the latest of these are the Louisville Courier-Journal the Memphis Evening Ledger and the New Albany Commercial and these only serve to represent the general sentiment of encouragement which is coming from all parts of the great West to the new enterprise

One or two private attempts which have been made to compete with the powerful old monopoly and which have failed for want of proper organization have had the effect of discouraging many journals which would be only too glad to break away from the Associated Press and give their readers the better news of the American Press Association at its lower rates, if they were assured of its permanent success To all such doubters we would say that the American Press Association means to [illegible] and that it has already demonstrated its ability to maintain a fair and active competition with its older rival. The more rapidly these timid journals join our enterprise the more quickly will they and their readers enjoy its benefits while their hesitation and doubt may possibly result in their finding their enjoyment of an equal participation in all the advantages of membership in the Association somewhat restricted by a proper regard for the first claims of those who have taken the labor and risk of this enterprise We have heretofore invited our old friends of the Associated Press to come with us and we will do them good We repeat the invitation only with the admonition of the possible danger of their being ultimately left out in the cold —Philadelphia Bulletin

A Summons from Spirit Land

A MOTHER'S CALL FROM HEAVEN AND ITS TERRIBLE RESPONSE

A correspondent writes from Guadalajara of a triple suicide which was committed in that city on the 2[illegible]th of January and which created the profoundest impression throughout the province The police of the city received instruction that a house occupied by a French family of the name of Favre had not been open for some time and that an insupportable stench was issuing from the premises Officers were sent to open the doors and they found inside the bodies of three unfortunates in a highly advanced stage of decomposition A medical autopsy established the fact that they had destroyed themselves by suffocation closing all the apertures of the house and lighting a pan of charcoal They had been suffering greatly from poverty but had clothed themselves in the very best attire—the well saved finery the remnants of their former opulence The family consisted of two sisters and a brother The two girls lay in the same bed wrapped in each other s arms the brother was lying dead in another bed placed at some distance

The Favre family were of Swiss origin The father who was a wealthy citizen of Geneva lost all his fortune by the failure of a watch speculation He died shortly after and his wife and three children removed to London and thence emigrated to Mexico wandering as far as Guadalajara where the mother died They remained there for some time supporting themselves by manual labor and earning amid the general stagnation of industry a precarious livelihood They were spiritualists and claimed to hold intercourse with their departed mother [illegible] the room were three notes explaining their death to be the result of their own act and in obedience to a communication from the mother who from the spirit land declared nothing was wanting to complete her happiness save the company of her children

There are some people in the city who know the young man who say that the spiritual message from the mother was only a pretext and that the people who had been nursed in opulence were tired of manual labor and heart broken with the mal du pays home sickness which is known to have such powerful influence on the Swiss that a regiment of the French Regent s Guard on hearing the Ranz des Vaches were thrown into such ecstacies of sorrow that many became sick forty or fifty deserted and two died outright

The Piegan Indians

WHO THEY ARE WHERE THEY ARE AND WHAT THEY ARE

The Piegan Indians are now exciting so much attention and the fearful punishment inflicted on some of them is attracting so much comment that our readers may feel interested in learning some particulars of their antecedents and characteristics Having spent some time in their vicinity the writer can speak of them from personal observation

The Piegans inhabit the country immediately around Fort Benton the head of navigation on the Missouri river, ranging north up the waters of the Yellow Stone and Big Horn It is a region abounding in game of the largest [illegible] such as buffalo antelope and mountain [illegible] but the high table lands—which compose the major portion of this country—produce but few nutritious roots and the creek bottoms having only here and there small patches of shrubs [illegible] yield but very few berries so their means of subsistence is often uncertain

In the summer of 1867 the writer of this visited three camps of Piegans, [illegible] Fort Benton, finding them [illegible] poor, and it was said by white residents at the Fort that they were badly diseased. The evidence of this was plain enough; they were dirty and decidedly [illegible] in appearance nearly all of them having a lean and hungry look We noticed when [illegible] the squaws came in with small baskets of [illegible] which seemed to constitute the main part of their subsistence—the young ones devoured them eagerly, almost savagely as though nearly starved Some of the men were drunk having obtained whisky from their more civilized neighbors at the Fort, where many of their squaws were living as the wives of white men

The Piegans and the Bloods are an offshoot of the Blackfeet, all three tribes speaking a common language, living in the same country, and are all probably descended from the [illegible] Their hostility to the whites dates as far back as we have any accounts of them In 1805 Lewis and Clark had trouble with them near the mouth of the Marias River, killing one, and, it is supposed, wounding several. While all other tribes on the route of those early travelers across the continent were friendly the Mandans, the Shoshones and the Chopunnish (or Nez Perces) showing them marked favors, the Indians then inhabiting the country now occupied by the Blackfeet Bloods and Piegans alone were hostile. In the summer of 1865, while a party of men were laying out a town at the mouth of the Marias they were attacked by a band of Blackfeet and Piegans and some [illegible] white men were killed The Montana militia was called out, and Generals Colonels and Captains were manufactured by Governor Edgerton; but they never got out of their peaceful quarters at Virginia City So the Indians went unpunished, but the titles conferred by the Governor remain to this day in all their original glory and [illegible]

Shortly after this warlike [illegible] the United States Government established a military post on Sun River midway between Fort Benton and Helena mainly to watch the [illegible] But the frowning pine fort, with its company or two of soldiers, brought no terror to the souls of the undaunted Blackfeet and their relatives and allies the Bloods and Piegans [illegible] on the war path, and only [illegible] the hair from any one, two, or three solitary horsemen or any foot-sore pilgrims caught out prospecting any [illegible] their [illegible] but we know they kept the [illegible] in a state of continual alarm, for their [illegible] and [illegible] do we know what particular acts led to this [illegible] dition of Colonel Baker, and the slaughter of so many Piegans —[illegible] Bulletin

Rapid Growth of the [illegible]

(From the N. Y. [illegible])

There is nothing which so strikingly marks the distinction between American and [illegible] [illegible]urities as the fact that while [illegible] a stationary basis the [illegible] tion [illegible] with [illegible] numbers and wealth.

New States are rapidly filling up along our [illegible] glad to [illegible] share of the national [illegible] We are [illegible] year, as it were, [illegible] the number who are to pay it. If the debt was not reduced at all in thirty years one hundred millions of people would be [illegible] which is now owed by forty [illegible] If not one dollar was paid upon the principal in one hundred years the present debt would be an inconsiderable sum compared with the population and [illegible] of the country

Everywhere population is flowing over our new lands railroads are following rapidly In the track of settlement towns and cities and States are springing up along every river, railroad and lake The enterprise and the [illegible] of the people seem to be boundless

Nowhere has this growth been more [illegible] than in the town of Duluth, at the [illegible] of Lake Superior, the depot of the Northern Pacific railroad

In April last less than one year ago, there were on the town site ten [illegible] Now there are one hundred and eighty buildings. Among these is one hotel costing $50,000, another costing $12 000 an Episcopal Church, costing $15,000 and forty three stores, while [illegible] saw mills are hard at work in the vicinity with a demand greater than they can possibly supply. There are two good public schools established in the town, together with a library association, a reading room a ladies' seminary; and, during the past winter the citizens have had a course of public lectures Lots that one year ago could scarcely be given away are now sold at the rate of $17 per front foot

All this growth, it must be remembered, has taken place in less than one year, and that, too, without the town having any connection with the country south and west [illegible] by the [illegible] July next the Mississippi and [illegible] railroad of which seventy [illegible] miles are now constructed, will be completed, and the waters of the lake will be placed in railroad communication with the waters of the Mississippi river at St. Paul

In addition to all this the Northern Pacific Railroad has made its arrangements to establish at Duluth immense iron works, at which shall be made all the iron [illegible] for the construction of that great road to the Pacific Ocean It is stated that negotiations have been closed with a German banking house for $50 000,000, a sum sufficient to construct the entire road Supplies are now being purchased in Minnesota for the support of two thousand workmen Storehouses are to be built every five miles [illegible] each of which 20 000 rations will be placed In the neighborhood of Crow wing, on the line of the road, 150 000 rations are now being collected. The work on the road will be pushed ahead with great rapidity For all this vast development the town of Duluth will be the depot.

If Jay Cooke succeeds as it seems certain he [illegible] in constructing the North Pacific Railroad from Lake Superior to Puget Sound, by private enterprise it will be the most magnificent feat of financial management ever known in the history of our country while its effect in developing a vast region of country [illegible] immigration enlarging the resources of the nation and adding to the prosperity of all our people will be incalculable

It is related of the late George Wakeman, the well known stenographer and newspaper writer that being in Philadelphia during the Johnson convention he found himself in an excited crowd listening to one of Col John W Forney's caustic radical speeches in which the orator urged upon the assemblage the duty of lynching the Southern delegates Mr Wakeman was in a position to hear every word of the speech but had left his note book at his room In the uncertain light of a flickering gas lamp jostled by a surging crowd he noted every word of the harrangue upon his shirt collar and cuffs and upon the remnant of an envelope

Mr Slater's Paper

We have heard from several sources that the friends of Mr Slater Democratic candidate for Congress are endeavoring to manufacture sympathy for him by recalling to public recollection the fact that a newspaper with which he was connected was suppressed by the Government—or to speak more accurately was excluded from the mails for his union utterances in 1862. Now we don't care to go over Mr Slater's record. It is hardly worth while to take the trouble to prove that he was in sympathy with secession and that the exclusion of his paper from the mails was, under the circumstances proper and just. We merely propose to call attention once more to the fact that the paper was excluded from the mails at the instance of men who are acting with the Democratic party, and to show why they did it. Mr Nesmith at that time was a Senator at Washington. Persons in Oregon who had for years been his political friends and prompters, not liking the sentiments of Slater's paper, and being opposed to Slater on personal grounds, sent copies of the said paper to Nesmith, who went to the Department and procured the order excluding it from the mails. Were it necessary we could give the names of these persons, but Mr Slater and his friends know well who they are. And now as this matter has been revived, it may serve to gratify public curiosity to see some extracts from Mr Slater's paper, that will show the quality of the journal over which these tears are now flowing afresh. For instance, that paper, the Corvallis Union, in August, 1861, had a long editorial congratulating itself on the defeat of the Union troops at Bull Run. We give a portion of this exultant article from Mr. Slater's pen:

> What of the thousand prayers that have been daily and hourly put up to the "God of battles invoking him to fight the battles of the North? How have they been answered? Has the Almighty become deaf to the Beechers, the Cheevers and the three thousand clergymen of New England, not to say the shining lights in Oregon who have importuned him for victory and success? Some have resolved that as God has taken into his own hands the abolition of slavery they will stand still and see His glory. Wonder if they have seen any glimpses of that glory as the lightning from Bull Run flashed the intelligence of the capture of forty negroes by the South and the complete overthrow of the invading army? Superstition was supposed to be at its height in the dark ages, and the nineteenth century was supposed to have dawned on its retreating van, but it would seem that there is still an abundance of superstition in the enlightened North. The self-righteous portions who have been insulting high heaven with their vain petitions might learn from this defeat that prayers will not win a battle, and that if they expect to whip the South into submission they must fight as well as pray.

It may be that Mr. Slater will now take pleasure in reading over again these taunts against the Union sentiment of the country and the Union arms. Perhaps it will delight him anew to read once more this panegyric upon the Confederates, and this glorification of their achievement at Bull Run. If so, we have nothing to say, our only purpose at this time is to show what manner of paper it was whose suppression Mr. Nesmith procured. In February, 1862, the Corvallis Union, under the head of "Vandalism," spoke thus of the sealing up of Charleston harbor by sunken ships:

> It would be a good deed if the commercial nations of the world would compel the old abolition Vandal, Lincoln, to dig them up again with his nails.

Following the above dignified and exalted sentiment, in the next issue of the Union was the annexed paragraph:

> If the Union is destroyed, and destroyed it will be if European powers interfere, as we are assured they will do, this country will be too hot to hold the [illegible] howlers. * * * Intolerant bigoted abolitionists, prepare to and to Canada or Victoria, for like Arnold, you will have no rest for the soles of your feet on this side of the line.

Of course in republishing these extracts and in thus refreshing Mr. Slater's mind with its own meditations of eight years ago, we are not actuated by any feeling of animosity toward him. Our only purpose is to show the ground on which Mr Nesmith and his other friends (who are honorable men) acted when they suppressed his paper in 1862. It is no business of ours to participate in any quarrel about the matter. Mr. Slater and those who sympathize with him because of the exclusion of his paper from the mails, and its consequent failure, can settle with Mr. Nesmith and the other prominent persons, [illegible] Democrats, who were kind enough to interest themselves so much in the Corvallis Union.

A Sinking Fund.

It is well known that the public debt of the United States is being steadily reduced, mainly through the instrumentality of the sinking fund. The technical meaning of a sinking fund is that a certain portion of the debt shall be purchased each year, and instead of being simply cancelled shall be set aside, and that the payments of interest upon it shall be used in the further purchase of the debt. Of course if this plan is adhered to the accumulation by compounding the interest will clear off any debt, however large, within a determinate period. The principal objection to the system, as stated by a recent writer is this: That the increasing payments of interest on the compounding mass do not provide for themselves, but are just as much a tax on the people as if the latter were to raise each year so much of the principal of the debt. Of course the actual weight of the interest and the amount to be raised by taxation is the same, whether the payment is to creditors or to a sinking fund. With the first pressure for money, therefore, the temptation is strong to break through the norm, and the step is then a short one to laying hands upon the fund itself. And such has been the fate of the institution in England.

A plan for a sinking fund was set on foot in 1786 by England's greatest Minister, Pitt, which produced good results while it was adhered to, and steadily reduced the great English debt. Could England have practiced self-denial that sinking fund would have extinguished the whole of her immense debt by the year 1845. Pitt's plan was to support the sinking fund by indirect taxes, and it worked well for many years, but one administration after another bid for popular favor and temporary applause by repealing the indirect taxes; the free trade system was established and by the year 1830 the operations of the sinking fund were entirely suspended. Then the reduction of the debt ceased, and it became for the first time apparent that Great Britain had a permanent burden which was never to be removed. People made up their minds to this fact, and the debt which had been diminishing from the fall of Napoleon, began to increase again. During the twenty four years of peace that intervened between the year 1830 and the commencement of the war with Russia in 1854, the debt of Great Britain was actually increased by eight million pounds sterling, though it had been diminished by seventy-five million pounds through the agency of the sinking fund during the fifteen years immediately preceding the abolition of that fund in 1830. The Ministers and people had not heroism enough to let the fund alone.

In our country the sinking fund is working under very favorable auspices. It will extinguish our debt in a few years if we only have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the debt [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ... liable to be disturbed by sudden caprices or [illegible] on the part of those who control them.

Editorial Notes

All the journals of California except those utterly given up to unreasoning partisanship characterize the Democratic platform adopted in Oregon as an outrage and a reproach to the State. Oregon must repudiate the repudiators if she would save her reputation.

A California paper has the following interesting piece of intelligence: Most of the Democratic County Committees in Oregon are instructing for L F Graves, former Congressman from California for Governor. His nomination is highly probable. Such, such, is fame!

The Republican platform is outspoken and unequivocal in its demand for internal improvements, fostered and aided by the General Government. The Democratic platform has not one word on the subject. Democrats of Oregon no doubt approve the position taken by their Senators in Congress against land grants, hence this omission in their platform.

The citizens of Helena, Montana, have held a mass meeting and adopted resolutions commending Col Baker for his chastisement of the Piegan Indians. The report, prepared by a committee and adopted by the meeting recites the murder of 140 white men, women and children in Montana by the Indians since 1863. Of course the Montana people think the Indians got nothing but their deserts from Col Baker.

The Sources of the Missouri

The Illustrated London News of recent date has a fine engraving of the junction of three tributaries of the Missouri—the Jefferson, Gallatin and Madison. The view was engraved from a sketch by Mr. P. Tofft, an artist of considerable skill and genius, who visited Montana during the summer of 1868, while making an extensive tour through the Pacific States and Territories. The News has an article in this connection on "The Sources of the Missouri," from which we extract the following:

> "The greatest river of North America—for the Missouri is really superior to the Mississippi, whose name it assumes below St. Louis—has its origin in three streams which rise in Dacotah Territory and flow northward, forming a junction in Montana, near the settlement called Gallatin City, in west longitude 111 degrees, and north latitude 45 degrees 40 minutes, or thereabouts. A view of this place is engraved from a sketch by Mr P Tofft, who has traveled extensively during several years in the Pacific and western territories of the Union. The three tributaries of the head of the Missouri are named the Gallatin, the Jefferson, and the Madison, after three American statesmen. Mr Gallatin was Secretary of the Treasury in 1804, when Lewis and Clark, the first explorers of this region, were sent out there by the United States Government. It is just below the island seen in our View that the mighty Missouri begins its course, first tending northward, and soon cutting its ways in a deep gorge through one of the spurs of the Rocky Mountains. Beyond the "Gate of the Mountains," as this gorge is called, it forms great cataracts before descending to Fort Benton, the Chief depot of the American Fur Company. Here it makes a wide bend to the east, and again finally deflects to the southward until at St. Louis it joins company with the Mississippi, whose name it then assumes to its outlet in the Mexican Gulf. The river is navigable to the end of the month of September for light draught steamers as far as Fort Benton. Quite a fleet of steamers, laden with goods and passengers, principally for the Territory of Montana, leave St. Louis in the spring working their way slowly against a powerful current and taking from five to seven weeks in their voyage to Fort Benton. The boats are made fast to the shore every night, and the passengers are expected to take their turn in standing guard to prevent the possibility of an Indian attack. The return journey is often made in fourteen days—that is during high water. Towards September she subsides and reveals innumerable sandbars which shift about from year to year. To avoid these or to get off them after having run on, requires great skill and judgment and a kind of intuition with which the Upper Missouri pilots seem to be especially gifted. The length from the junction of the tributary streams at Gallatin to the junction with the Mississippi at St. Louis is 3,000 miles. The Missouri at its commencement is a stream of at least the breadth of the Thames at Westminster Bridge. The rocky plateau above the island in the middle distance is supposed to have been one of the camping grounds of Lewis and Clark, the first explorers.

The Raid Upon San Francisco

[From the Sacramento Record.]

The San Francisco papers are complaining, and with much show of reason, that there is a strong disposition in the present Legislature to pass any bills that may be calculated to injure the city. Certainly the passage of the Lake Tahoe Water Works bill authorizing San Francisco to issue $2,000,000 in bonds for the benefit of a company which appears to get no consideration in return and the passage of the New Montgomery Street bill together with the bills reorganizing the Fire and Police Departments do not indicate a very careful regard for the interest of the metropolis. The most singular fact in this connection is that the San Francisco delegation have roamed all of these measures [illegible] the passage of bills which [illegible] their face in the coolest possible way. Take for instance, the bill enabling John Nugent to recover damages from the city for the loss inflicted by him during the Vigilance Committee excitement. A more impudent and outrageous demand than this was never submitted to a legislative body, and yet not one member of the San Francisco delegation opposed it in any way. An attempt has been made to show that the country members have a spite against San Francisco and desire to injure the city, but the fact is San Francisco's worst enemies are her own representatives. They are supposed to know her needs and if they unanimously recommend the passage of a bill the country members are justified to a certain extent, in voting for it. The people of San Francisco are being punished for their apathy at the last election, and though the lesson may be a sharp and a bitter one it will not be thrown away if it rouses the people to guard their own rights in the future and determines them upon electing only honest and capable men for legislators.

The Sacramento Union says, speaking of the present California Legislature, "this has been the most wanton and extravagant Legislature that ever convened in California, and no cunning of speech can explain away the stubborn fact."

THE WEST

The California Senate by a vote of [illegible] to eight has passed the bill continuing the State Geological Survey and appropriating $2,000 per month for two years for its support.

The Virginia Enterprise is responsible for the statement that a shoot of the broom species in that city bloomed the day before Christmas and has continued to flower ever since, with [illegible] [illegible] As fast as the [illegible] [illegible] we suppose [illegible]

The new telescope [illegible] San Francisco was placed in position about the first of the month and has been found [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. By its aid a ship's signal can be made out in hazy or dense weather at three times as great a distance as could be done by the glass formerly in use on a clear day.

The financial result of the San Francisco musical festival has been made known. The cash receipts for the five days were respectively $[illegible], $13,611, $9,[illegible], $[illegible] 60 and $2,491 65, making a total of $35,400 70. The expenses were $18,612 25, leaving a balance of $[illegible]. Madame Parepa was presented with the net proceeds of the fourth day amounting to $[illegible] 00—leaving a balance of $10,412 80 as the profit to the Mercantile Library.

The Deer Lodge River is about to become a navigable stream according to the New North-West. Sam D. Johns is having a Mackinaw boat constructed at Deer Lodge City to carry passengers and baggage down the river to the new mines among the tall cedars of the Missoula. If the pioneer boat is a success in navigating the Deer Lodge, Hell Gate and Missoula it will be followed by a fleet of these light draught barges and Deer Lodge will become an important shipping point.

The White Pine News of March 21st has this: While the Hon R D Ferguson was lecturing in Shermantown Saturday evening on the subject of Man is Frail, a young lady in the audience handed us a portion of an apple to be given to the eloquent speaker. The act was done in a spirit of levity and of course the lady thought nothing more of it, but it struck us as being typical of the manner in which Eve played the old man, and caused him to turn aside from the business in hand.

OREGON

We learn from the telegraph operators that the storm which has prevailed for the last two or three days has extended to the southern part of the State and even so far south as Yreka. All the small streams are high and travel is greatly impeded.

A couple of "red hot" young men amused themselves the other day at Corvallis by riding furiously through the streets, yelling and flourishing pistols in guerilla style, threatening to shoot etc. The Marshal nipped them and the Recorder after hearing their exploits detailed charged them fifty dollars.

The Corvallis Gazette says: "From a private source, we get the following from the Bay. The schooner Wm Ireland arrived on the 28th ult six days from San Francisco. She is loaded with lumber and will sail in a few days. Times are unusually lively here, and the prospect of light houses gives additional cheer."

W B Shubrick Chairman of the Light House Board at Washington, in response to a letter from Senator Williams writes March 18th as follows:

Sir: Your letter of the 16th instant is received, and the Light House Inspector at San Francisco has been requested to take the earliest opportunity to have the required buoys placed at the entrance of the Yaquina Bay.

There is an effort being made among the Good Templars of this place, says the Corvallis Gazette to get up a pleasure excursion for the 1st of May. A proposition has been made from Onward Lodge to meet Excelsior at some suitable place—to be selected and prepared by the former. The new boat building at this place, is expected to be finished by that time, and it is proposed to charter her for the trip.

Mr Pearce, of Eola, Polk county, reports the weather for March at that place. His statement shows that there were fourteen days on which rain, and two on which snow fell; nine clear days, six cloudy days. The total rain fall was 5 77 inches. There was frost on three days. The highest mean temperature for the month was 47 degrees on the 31st, the lowest 26 degrees, on the 14th, and the average mean, 39 degrees.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

[From the Victoria Colonist to the 6th.]

Several flags were at half mast yesterday as a mark of respect to the memory of Gen Thomas.

The message of His Excellency, the Governor, intimates that three members of the Council will be deputed to bear the Confederation terms to Canada.

The United States steamer Mohican, 9 guns, Capt W W Low, bearing the broad pennant of Commodore William Rodgers Taylor arrived yesterday afternoon in fourteen days from San Francisco, under sail. The officers report a pleasant passage with light head winds the greater part of the time.

M P Reid arrived in this city last evening with a Big Bend mail. Mr Reid left French Creek on the 9th of March, encountered very deep snow on the mountains and experienced considerable interruption from ice on the lakes. The winter on French Creek had been very mild and open so much so that mining operations had been only partially interrupted. One company (Bruley's) only lost three days during the entire winter. The yield of the mines has continued steady averaging considerably over wages. The market was well supplied and the people were in excellent health and spirits.

By the express on Friday evening the Hudson Bay Company received at their office in this city 158 ounces of gold dust from Mr Ogden their agent at Fort Stuart [Peace River] the nearest station of the Company to Vitalle Creek. Accompanying the consignment is a letter from Mr Ogden, in which he stated that the dust was received from a small party of prospectors in payment of goods purchased from him. The prospectors dug the dust on Vitalle Creek. This stream he describes as small, but he says all the miners are confident that other and larger streams rich in mineral wealth, abound in the district. The Government prospecting party he adds, confessed to him that while at Quesnel mouth they said as little as possible about their discoveries. Mr Ogden condemns the present use of the Skeena route because of the obstructions which now exist there. He also condemns that by way of Fort George and Salmon River, but commends the route now used via Lake Tatla. The report that he had commenced sending supplies into the diggings on dog sleds Mr Ogden says is incorrect, therefore, those who rush in earliest must be prepared for a scarcity of food for a few weeks. The gold dust, which was kindly shown us by the Company is of a dark hue not unlike that obtained on Keithley creek. It assays $17 50 per ounce. The pieces range from five cents to $5 in weight. Among the gold are a number of small lumps of silver which weigh perhaps, 1 bit each. The dust attracted much attention yesterday.

IDAHO

[From the Boise Chronicle April 2.]

Ground will be broke for the corner stone of the Penitentiary to day at 10 o'clock A M. Several public speakers are expected and a general invitation is extended to the public. It being the first public building to be erected in Idaho, we anticipate a large attendance.

The emigration to the Basin the coming season will be large. Yesterday morning two stages had to be put on by Mr Pinkham. Many of the old residents of Boise are returning bringing with them friends and acquaintances from the East. It will be a prosperous mining season in Idaho, and our population will nearly double this year.

From all parts of the valley and from up Boise river we hear of a general revolution taking place among the farmers in regard to improvements of a permanent character. Shade trees are being planted, farm fences enlarged, a greater amount of grain being sown and other improvements [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] This looks as though our farming population were satisfied and intended to stay.

We have met many of our farmers the past week and they report that the spring sowing is about done. The fall wheat promises a better crop than ever before. It would surprise many of the Eastern agriculturists if they could know the proportionate amount of labor in the two sections. If we are not troubled with drouth or that other pest the grasshoppers, the yield of grain in Idaho will be twice the amount ever grown before. In this respect our advice was taken and immense seeded fields is the result—now for the market.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

[From the Olympia Transcript April 9.]

The dwelling of Thos Laws of Black river was burned to the ground one day last week while Mr Laws was absent. Nothing was saved from the house, all his furniture being consumed.

The grand jury have had the vigilance committee under investigation but have brought in no bills against the [illegible] and probably will do nothing more in the case. At the time the stage left yesterday the court was trying to get a jury in the case of [illegible] for shooting Northover.

The Democracy of Mason county have nominated the following county ticket: For Probate Judge, Dan'l S[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]; [illegible] Kennedy; Treasurer, [illegible] Willey; Auditor, H McMaster; School Superintendent, J M [illegible]; Sheriff, George Stanley; Coroner, [illegible]; Surveyor, [illegible]; Assessor, Samuel Willey.

The following town trustees were elected on Monday last for the ensuing year: [illegible] Hewitt, Francis Henry, A A Phillips and Ben Bettman, with D R Bigelow and Levi Shelton a tie which will have to be decided by lot. William Billings our present efficient town Marshal was elected Marshal and Assessor. Nat Crosby was elected Treasurer. The town has reason to be satisfied in the selection of so efficient a board.

The following is a copy of the mail contracts recently awarded the citizens of this Territory as taken from the books of the Post Office Department. We presume they are reliable:

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS.

The Mason & Hamlin Organ Company have just issued what they term a Testimony Circular which is certainly remarkable as presenting such an amount of testimony to the excellence of their instruments. It contains six large newspaper pages closely printed and thus includes as much matter as an ordinary duodecimo volume. Nearly *one thousand persons, most of them experts in the mat*ter testify to the rare excellence of the cabinet organs made by this company. The character of the testimony is indeed quite as remarkable as its quantity. Nearly all the most prominent musicians in the country are quoted; the principal organists pianists and teachers of chief American cities are among those who say that these are the best among instruments of the class. A number of well known European artists testify to the same effect. Extracts are given from Paris and London papers which admit that these organs are superior to those of European make. American newspapers are equally emphatic. But what is perhaps even more satisfactory is the testimony of hundreds who have these organs in use, as to their working qualities. After looking over such a mass of testimony one cannot well doubt that the reputation of this company is richly deserved. By sending his address to the Mason & Hamlin Organ Co, 154 Tremont street Boston or 596 Broadway New York any one can have a copy of this circular sent him gratuitously postage paid.—N Y Evangelist. ap12dawlt

Remedy for Dull Times—The California papers agree that times are very dull in that State. The Sacramento Bee says that many people try to answer the question which everybody asks, "why these dull times?" and whilst there are material differences as to the causes all acknowledge the great fact that times are excessively dull. The Bee repeats that the lethargy is now greater by many hundred per cent than it was ever before known to be in California. In part it says this is attributable to the fact that there are too many non-producers in the country, "too many that do nothing that can add to the general prosperity, but whose best efforts are directed toward subsisting from it. The fact may be seen in our over-crowded cities, business vocations and professions, in the numerous idlers on the street corners, in the paucity of our manufactures, in the sparsely populated interior, in the millions of rich acres lying untilled, and in the whole structure of California society." The remedy for dull times then, is to provide work for the people, and this [illegible] applies as well to our State and city as to California and Sacramento. We quote the Bee again: "We want small manufacturers for out of them large ones will grow. The man who makes a match, or shoe, or broom or brush, or [illegible] hat, or anything that society requires, [illegible] trifling it may be, benefits himself and profits the community. He, if successful, encourages others, and in time some of them will raise into importance. But it is these little things that make up the great whole—and which are, in fact, the best basis of society. Any man who is able to work is better working at his trade—if he have one—than idling—better in health and in purse, better in his own opinion and that of others, and the time is now at hand when many of the past idlers must become workers. When all are employed at some useful occupation—when a man [illegible] as he consumes there can be no [illegible] in the family, or in society when all do [illegible], but when he consumes more than he [illegible], become poor himself, [illegible] absorbs [illegible] of others." We would have Portland [illegible] adopt the plan of Philadelphia. The city of Brotherly Love" is regarded as the best city in the United States for the poor man, or for [illegible] on a moderate salary. An [illegible] in Lippincott's Magazine, which recently had an [illegible] article on house building in Philadelphia, we learn that from $15,000,000 to [illegible] paying an average of 16 per cent [illegible] employed in Philadelphia in the [illegible] of erecting houses for sale, on pretty [illegible] By the same plan indicated in this paper yes[illegible] about to be adopted by the N. P. R. Co., [illegible] their wild lands. We are one of those who have implicit confidence in the success of [illegible] and operations in Philadelphia prove [illegible] beyond a doubt in this country. It has been in operation for half a century or more in England and Scotland. No mistakes, so far, [illegible] in the building up of Portland, [illegible] is yearly increasing in population [illegible] facilities to increase in proper ratio for [illegible] men of limited means to secure a home. This is not so; the prices of real estate [illegible], while the facilities for [illegible] means to invest do not increase at this rate, with the repeated importations of [illegible] implements for the farm, [illegible] and shoes, clothing, etc., any per[illegible] that sooner or later the [illegible] dull times must be spoken loudly [illegible] farther then, at present [illegible] enough that the remedy [illegible] preventive, lies in a proper [illegible] home producers, giving that [illegible] first, last and always, and [illegible] some such plan as exists in Philadelphia [illegible] comfortable homes for men [illegible] Both plans are available at [illegible] in this community.

[illegible] Painting—There is an igno[illegible] people that the ancient art of [illegible] is completely lost; it is totally [illegible], for we can carry it to a much [illegible] than the [illegible], except in one particular [illegible] very near to that. We [illegible], and produce the effects of [illegible] which they could not do, by [illegible] the colors in such a [illegible] proper enameling and [illegible] that they shall afterwards become [illegible] of the ancients, with [illegible] of throwing in superior [illegible] glass painting has been [illegible] the greatest perfection in Munich. The [illegible] stained glass in the windows of the [illegible] in this city, is an [illegible] of the art in America.

[illegible] Society—At the election [illegible] the Hebrew Benevolent Society held [illegible] Hall on Sunday, Messrs. Levy [illegible] Walter were elected trustees for [illegible] in place of two retiring trustees [illegible] were elected as follows: [illegible] Lewis; Vice President, Louis [illegible] Lehman Blum, [illegible] Jos. Bachman; Treasurer, [illegible] The Benevolent Society is [illegible] established associations of the [illegible] membership is now large, and is composed of [illegible] the leading citizens.

[illegible]—The school meeting last [illegible] well attended. On motion, a tax of [illegible] purposes was levied; and for [illegible] of the Harrison street school house, [illegible] its dimensions very materially, [illegible] were instructed, if they deem it [illegible] to employ a male teacher for the [illegible] school. The motion to purchase a block [illegible] in the west part of the city for school purposes, was not adopted.

Primary Meetings.—On Saturday afternoon [illegible] week, April 23d, the Republican voters of Multnomah county will meet in their respective precincts at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of choosing delegates who are to attend the County Convention, which is to meet at the Court House on the 26th inst., at 10 A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination a Legislative and county ticket.

Personal.—Among the passengers by the Moses Taylor, last evening, was Mr E. S. Kearney, U. S. Marshal for Washington Territory. J. S. C. Abbott, in his "Romance of Spanish History," makes Don John of Austria Prime Minister of Spain in 1677, or 131 years after he was born.

Daniel Heveltine, of Wayne, Me., who is in his eighty-first year, has cut the past winter fifty cords of wood, which has been hauled to Winthrop and sold for $5 a cord.

Rev E Watson, presiding elder of the Saratoga Methodist District, prayed, a few evenings ago, for the New York Legislature, "which seemed disposed to repeal even the ten commandments."

Senora Oviedo, nee Miss Bartlett, of the New York diamond wedding, has given half her fortune to the relief of Cuban families. Of this woman, once so famous for her beauty, it is said she is withered, shrunk, and prematurely old.

Gov. Ladislaus Ujhazy, a compatriot of Kossuth in the struggle for Hungarian independence, at one time the Governor of the celebrated Fortress of Comorn, died in San Antonio, Texas, on the 7th of this month. He had become quite weak and infirm, being nearly 80 years of age. During many years past he has been a highly respected citizen of San Antonio, and his son, Mr. F. Ujhazy, still resides in that city.

An Incident at Promontory.—The Virginia City Enterprise relates an incident at Promontory, as follows:

A passenger who lately came through from the East, over the grand continental railroad, tells the following yarn: At Promontory just as the train was starting, a stalwart settler of that region, with long hair and bushy beard, and a hat of tremendous width of brim, dashed up to the station, mounted upon a wild-looking gray mare. Leaping from the animal's back, he threw the reins of the bridle over a post and bounded into the nearest passenger car just as the train was moving off. Steadying himself as well as he could, he pulled off his huge-brimmed hat, and taking from it an immense bandana wiped the perspiration from his brow. He then looked about the car with a smile of complacency, and said "Wall, I'm here, ain't I? Purty good dash for it, but I'm here on time." No one in the crowd said a word. "That air old gray mar' o' mine never fooled me yit. Ef I want to get to a place I get thar sure when I'm astraddle o' her." No one said a word. "Powerful fine mar' she is." Approaching a Boston man seated in the car, he said. "Wall, she got me here, did'nt she?" No reply from the man from the "Hub." "I say she got me here eh?" No reply. "Readin' a newspaper, are you? Yes, I see readin' the New York Herald. Don't you never read the New York Tribune?" "No, sir," gruffly replied the Hubite. "I don't, I wipe my feet on the Tribune." "Oh, you do, eh? Wall stranger," with an inexpressibly serious and comical look, "you just keep on readin' the New York Herald and wipin' your feet on the Tribune, and putty soon you'll have more sense in your heels than you have in your head."

The Oregon Democracy

[From the Sacramento Record.]

It would almost appear that climate exercised some subtle influence upon the Democracy, for it seems that the farther north this party goes, the more fossilized does it become. We thought California was bad enough, but Oregon beats us hollow. The Democratic State Convention there has just adopted a platform, one of the principal planks of which is repudiation of the national debt! Other planks call for the rescinding of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments and others contain the usual claptrap about Chinamen. As might naturally be expected, the business men of the Oregon Democracy are indignant at this repudiation platform, and the general opinion is that it will be about the heaviest load the party ever had to carry. We have little doubt of that, and fully expect to write the obituary of the Oregon Democracy at the close of the next campaign. But if the climate of Oregon stimulates Democrats to repudiate, what would the climate of Alaska do? If ever a Democratic Convention is held in that inhospitable region, we shall be prepared to hear that they have denied the validity of Lee's surrender, and have declared for the repeal of the Thirteenth Amendment.

Her rooms are over Clarke, Henderson & Cooke's store, corner First and Washington streets.

Uniform Quadrilles are a new fashion in England, in which the gentlemen of each set wear the same uniform and the ladies fancy dresses to match. Such things will soon be as popular here as Bauman Bros. Palace Store, Odd Fellows Temple.

A Torpid System.

Sometimes without any assignable cause, the physical strength and animal spirits give way, and a strange torpor falls alike on the body and the intellect. There is little or no pain perhaps, but the natural vigor and elasticity of the nervous and muscular system seems to have departed, and an indifference to the pleasures of life, and even of its grave responsibilities, takes the place of that earnest interest in both which characterizes every well balanced mind when in a healthy condition.

This state of partial collapse is often the premonitory symptoms of some serious malady. It indicates unmistakably that the vital powers are languishing and need a stimulant. In such cases the effect of a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is wonderfully beneficial. The great tonic wakes up the system from its drowse. The secretions and the circulation receive a new impetus. The relaxed nerves recover their elasticity under the operations of the specific, like the slackended strength of a musical instrument in the process of tuning. Lethargy and debility are replaced by energy and vigor, the spirits rise, and life that almost seemed a burden while the season of depression lasted becomes once more enjoyable. That such a radical change should be produced by a remedy entirely devoid of the powerful alkaloids and minerals so extensively used in modern practice may seem incredible to those who pin their faith on the medicinal efficacy of active poisons. But if these skeptics will take the trouble to enquire of those who have tested the corrective and alterative virtues of the Bitters under the circumstances described, they will find the statement to be true.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The Union Republican party of Oregon, in Convention, makes this declaration of its principles and policy.

1st. Unfaltering devotion to the Union, first, last, and forever, and unwavering fidelity to the Constitution and its amendments, and to the laws of our National Legislature.

2d. We wholly approve the principles and policy of the administration of President Grant, as carrying into practical application the principles for which we have successfully striven. And we particularly commend these points in his Inaugural Address, wherein he declares—"let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public places, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world" and "I would protect the law abiding citizen, whether of native or foreign birth, wherever his rights are prejudiced or the flag of our country floats" and "I will have no policy to enforce against the will of the people."

3d. We have confidence that the Administration will wisely and firmly protect the interests and sustain the dignity of the Nation in respect to other nations, and especially with regard to our just claims against Great Britain.

4th. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime,—and the national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the uttermost good faith to all creditors at home or abroad, not only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted. And for this purpose, we favor a strict economy in the Administration of the National Government, and the application to such payment of all surplus revenue, from whatever sources derived, and that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.

5th. We make no distinction between citizens, whether of foreign or native birth, and that we sympathize now and ever with men of all nationalities striving for self government.

6th. That we are opposed to any change in our naturalization laws which shall admit to citizenship any foreigners not now entitled thereto under said laws.

7th. We favor a judicious system of railroad and river improvements in Oregon, in order to develop our resources and invite settlement of our unoccupied territory—and for this purpose insist that Congress should make us liberal grants of aid.

8th. We are in favor of a tariff for revenue, with such discriminations in favor of our domestic manufactures as will not diminish its efficiency for the purposes of revenue.

9th. We favor universal amnesty to the people of those States lately in rebellion, which have been restored to full relations in the Union.

10th. We are in favor of fostering the cause of education, and are opposed to any diversion of the common school funds of this State to any other purpose than the support of common schools.

11th. We recognize in the Union Republican party the measures and men who saved the Government from destruction, and that its continuance in power is the only sure safeguard to national peace and prosperity. And with this platform we appeal to the voters of Oregon for their suffrages and support.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Union Republican voters of Multnomah county are requested to meet at the usual places of voting in their respective precincts on Saturday, the 23d day of April, 1870, at one o'clock P. M. and choose delegates to attend a County Convention to be held at the Court House in Portland, on the 26th day of April, 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a Legislative and County ticket and appointing a County Central Committee for the ensuing two years.

The precincts will be entitled to delegates in the County Convention as follows:

Central 11, East Portland 6, Fulton 3, Multnomah 1, North Portland 5, Powell's Valley 1, Sandy, 2, Sauvie's Island 1, South Portland 14, St. Johns, 2, Wallamet 2, Washington 11.

The secret changes for select lines will not be observed in holding the primaries.

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which on [illegible] here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior products for the genuine G. The Workman to His Wife

Come Mary throw your work aside
 And let your troubles be
Leave care and toil and arm in arm [illegible]
 And spend an hour with me
We'll seek the cowslip on the bank
 The primrose in the lane
And happy sights and sounds of [illegible]
 Shall make us young again

It's long, my love, since you and I
 Have heard the blackbird sing
Or caught, by running brooks or woods
 The glory of the Spring
It's long since you and I have trod
 The paths where hawthorns blow
Then, Mary, fling your work aside
 And let your troubles go

The trees shall bend [illegible]
 The flowers shall clasp our feet
The very bees shall hymn our praise
 In murmurs soft and sweet
The winds shall swell with ready [illegible]
 The chorus high and loud
And we'll forget the world, my wife
 And all its busy crowd

A thousand things await us, love—
 Blue skies and balmy air—
Green fields whose very sight shall make
 The heart forget its care
Then never sigh—be glad to-day—
 Throw sorrow to the wind—
Nor pause till we have left our ills
 A summer's hour behind

Around the World on Skates

The April number of Harper's new monthly among the other original articles contains an interesting one by T B Thorpe, under the attractive title of "Around the World on Skates."

The details make the title strictly correct for we have an authentic account of an enterprising "Yankee boy" W H Fuller, who accomplished this remarkable feat The journey from Odessa to St Petersburg—one thousand miles—gives a very clear idea of the character of the towns, country, and population of that part of the great empire Among other things which will interest the reader is the singular mildness of the Russian climate which made skating all along the route almost as great a novelty as it was in Calcutta, Ceylon, or Sprat.

Fuller's first appearance in Russia is thus rather humorously given

The orchestra finally appeared in the usual slow and melancholy way, and according to programme played the national air of Russia and then, in compliment to the star, gave "Yankee Doodle." This pleased the audience very much, and several of the people in the parquette, whom Fuller believed to have been merchants, applauded

The curtain rose at length on a bleak winter landscape, and in the background was a Russian hovel, over which by the aid of one or two strong wires, was streaming the "Stars and Stripes," as if held as square as a table top by a stiff breeze After the fashion that has prevailed from time immemorial at circuses when the horses enter the ring, Fuller made his appearance under the cover of a grand crash of music.

Dressed apparently in the torn and miserable garb of a benighted traveller, far from home, evidently fatigued and trembling with exhaustion, and finally too weak to stand on his skates, which he made sound on the stage floor like wooden clogs, he thus came from the cottage door, and cast a look towards heaven, something after manner of Enoch Arden His knees then gave way, as he sank to the floor in the ice and snow. There was a strange look in the audience What did this mean? Then he rose on his knee, and again gave the Enoch Arden look, when a young girl dressed in the Black Crook style but personating some very amiable Russian fairy, floated from the side scenes, made a very effective speech in pantomime, pointed her wand at the American flag over the desolate cottage, and then touched Fuller upon the shoulder.

While she was doing this, Fuller fastened several strings to his dilapidated garments. At the [illegible] the fairy touched him the [illegible] pulled the strings, and he sprang to his feet dressed in a rich Russian suit of green, with costly fur linings, patent leather boots, and fur cap, &c. The, with several rich jewels sparkling on the right side of his breast, which had been loaned him by his accommodating [illegible]

The [illegible] Fuller was supposed (under the [illegible] influence of the good fairy) to be making his [illegible] on skates to his native [illegible] The surprise of the audience at this sudden change was immense, and [illegible] as he came careering towards the foot-lights, there came forth the welcome sounds of applause that satisfied him he could succeed Following up the [illegible] of a good first impression, he went through his act with unusual satisfaction to himself, and when he disappeared on one [illegible] with his face to the audience, [illegible] his hand, and the good fairy appeared and waved over him the Russian flag, such a tremendous shout went up that two or three of the police had suspicions that something serious was the matter The applause continued, and the Russian Princess, from the Imperial box threw a bouquet of flowers on to the stage. Fuller stood meanwhile at the side, the manager holding the [illegible] ready to draw it the moment he should decide to appear, before its obtruding folds.

How Fuller saw the Emperor of Russia is graphically stated Travelling on the post route in the one-horse cart of the country, the second night of his journey he was suddenly stranded.

The report at the station was that no traveller would be allowed to pursue his way for two or more days A courier had passed along, announcing that the Emperor was on the road, moving toward the Black Sea, and all the horses were of course at his command The best ones (and all were bad enough) were stabled and groomed. Fuller congratulated himself that he would at least have the satisfaction of seeing the grand personage, who, according to his friend at Kathernoff had hired him at great expense to come to his capital. He hung about the post station for there was no house but the stables and inn, and awaited the result. The contemplated arrival of the Czar had a singular effect upon the people It appeared as if they envied the very horses that were to drag the carriage in his suit. There was a veneration and almost worship displayed which Fuller could not wholly resist; and he began to look for the Emperor's arrival with almost as much anxiety as did his glorious majesty's subjects. The third night, about twelve o'clock, Fuller heard a noise in the court-yard sprang to the window. It was moonlight—made dim by passing heavy clouds. He caught a glimpse of a dozen tall men on horseback, their steel breast-plates and splendid uniforms half concealed under heavy cloaks their helmets glistened for a moment, they gave some directions in a low voice and dashed on The next moment all the groomed post horses were arranged in the road Presently a carriage dashed up, the horses were instantly changed another moment came along with the same result until some thirty all apparently exactly alike were thus mysteriously despatched In one of these carriages no outsider knew which one, was the Emperor of all the Russias, possibly asleep It was a dramatic performance, and impressed upon the minds of the simple Russians that the father was indeed a god The mystery attending the whole movement inspired Fuller's democratic republican soul with a feeling of awe and reverence that he did not suppose could be called forth by any human being

A resolution was presented in the Senate of Maine last week to give Mrs Betsy Reynolds a pension during her life The member who introduced it made the following statement Mrs Reynolds widow of John Reynolds of Burnham, sent four sons two sons-in law and one grandson to the war, neither of them returned to tell their story They all died defending the Union and the flag When the war closed she was left with thirty-one orphan grand children made so by the war. Her only surviving son who is lame volunteered, but was rejected because of his lameness Mrs Reynolds is now depending on her own labor for her livelihood Seven of her orphan grand children are in the Bath Asylum

The Commissioner of Agriculture says that much money time and labor have been expended in endeavoring to make the foreign grape a success in the Atlantic States but all such efforts have proved failures The Commissioner thinks that east of the Rocky Mountains no climate has yet been found suitable for the continued and healthy growth of the foreign grape

Gold at New York to day [illegible] at 114
[illegible]

We find the week opening upon a better trade than had been anticipated There are quite a number of buyers upon the market not only from the Walla Walla valley [illegible] Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory [illegible] but without any [illegible] [illegible] quotations [illegible] without change the quotations Dealers are inclined to hold to the figures ruling before the advance [illegible] rather than the Bay [illegible] retarded by the continued heavy rains which prevent the commencement of active farming operations

The Produce Market continues in a lethargic condition without any apparent indication of an immediate improvement The receipts from the Willamette to day were Apples 55 bxs Bacon 28 cs Eggs 26 bxs Flour 27 qr sks; Pork 10 bbls Potatoes 51 sks Tallow, 3 cs Wheat 720 sks

Matters in the Interior.

The Albany Register of Saturday says Business generally in this city has been very quiet during the week There has been no large receipts in the produce line and prices are firm at old quotations with an immediate prospect of higher rates The continued fall of rain having deterred many of our farmers from getting their ground ready for planting has had rather a dispiriting effect upon them which is felt to a greater or lesser extent by our tradesmen A few days of pleasant weather without rain would clear up cloudy faces and help business matters amazingly

Mining Intelligence

From the Boise Chronicle of the 2d inst we clip the subjoined paragraph.

Reports from this section continue favorable Messrs Lambing & Co have made a run of six and a half days for three men—or eighteen days work for one man—and cleared up over $540 and yet their riffles in the sluice boxes were not in a fix which would warrant a regular clean up In reality one man was at work on the ditch very nearly all the time Over two thousand pounds of provisions besides tools have been sent up to these mines by Littell & Plumo A other lot of provisions has been sent up by Walker Bartley & Co But the another lot of provisions has been sent to these diggings by Alexander & Co [illegible] hydraulic will be in working order within two weeks and shortly after every claim now located on the river will be in full blast A considerable number of Chinamen are at work on the low bars making from $2 50 to $5 00 per day according to their own reports Hundreds of other low bars which are unoccupied, are known to prospect as well as those now worked by the Chinamen Coarse gold has also been found in quantities on the upper claims, and if these mines were five hundred miles from Boise City they would undoubtedly create a stampede

The Walla Walla Statesman says Not a day passes away now that does not leave a less number of miners in our midst Quite a number left for the old camps yesterday and several have arranged to leave for Cedar Creek, to-day The weather is warm and pleasant, and the miners and fortune seekers are on the rush In a short time we expect to see a constant stream of dust pouring from the mines to exchange for merchandise and the products of our valley "

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are suffering on a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies —see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse, This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots [illegible] about the loins weakness of the limbs [illegible] blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption, night [illegible] monomania and frequently insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never failed [illegible] a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay [illegible]

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became doctors lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths shoemakers newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus [illegible] pamphlets letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure

The Workman to His Wife.

Come, Mary, throw your work aside,
And let your troubles be,
Leave care and toil and smoke awhile,
And spend an hour with me
We'll seek the cowslip on the bank,
The primrose in the lane,
And happy sights and sounds afar
Shall make us young again.

It's long, my love, since you and I
Have heard the blackbird sing,
Or caught, by running brooks or woods,
The glory of the Spring.
It's long since you and I have trod
The paths where hawthorns blow,
Then, Mary, fling your work aside,
And let your troubles go.

The trees shall bend to welcome us,
The flowers shall clasp our feet,
The very bees shall hymn our praise
In murmurs soft and sweet;
The winds shall swell, with ready voice,
The chorus high and loud
And we'll forget the world, my wife,
And all its busy crowd.

A thousand things await us, love—
Blue skies and balmy air—
Green fields whose very sight shall make
The heart forget its care.
Then never sigh—be glad to-day—
Throw sorrow to the wind—
Nor pause till we have left our ills
A Summer's hour behind

Around the World on Skates

The April number of Harper's new monthly, among the other original articles, contains an interesting one by T. B. Thorpe, under the attractive title of "Around the World on Skates."

The details make the title strictly correct, for we have an authentic account of an enterprising "Yankee boy," W. H. Fuller, who accomplished this remarkable feat. The journey from Odessa to St. Petersburg—one thousand miles—gives a very clear idea of the character of the towns, country, and population of that part of the great empire. Among other things which will interest the reader is the singular mildness of the Russian climate, which made skating all along the route almost as great a novelty as it was in Calcutta, Ceylon, or Surat.

Fuller's first appearance in Russia is thus rather humorously given:

The orchestra finally appeared in the usual slow and melancholy way, and according to programme played the national air of Russia; and then, in compliment to the "star," gave "Yankee Doodle." This pleased the audience very much, and several of the people in the parquette, whom Fuller believed to have been merchants, applauded.

The curtain rose at length on a bleak winter landscape, and in the background was a Russian hovel, over which, by the aid of one or two strong wires, was streaming the "Stars and Stripes," as if held as square as a table-top by a stiff breeze. After the fashion that has prevailed from time immemorial at circuses when the horses enter the ring, Fuller made his appearance under the cover of a grand crash of music.

Dressed apparently in the torn and miserable garb of a benighted traveller, far from home, evidently fatigued and trembling with exhaustion, and finally too weak to stand on his skates, which he made sound on the stage floor like wooden clogs, he thus came from the cottage door, and cast a look towards heaven, something after manner of Enoch Arden. His knees then gave way, as he sank to the floor in the ice and snow. There was a strange look in the audience. What did this mean? Then he rose on his knee, and again gave the Enoch Arden look, when a young girl dressed in the Black Crook style but personating some very amiable Russian fairy, floated from the side-scenes, made a very effective speech in pantomime, pointed her wand at the American flag over the desolate cottage; and then touched Fuller upon the shoulder.

While she was doing this, Fuller fastened several strings to his dilapidated garments. At the moment the fairy touched him the manager pulled the strings, and he sprang to his feet dressed in a rich Russian suit of green, with costly fur linings, patent leather boots, and fur-cap, together with several rich jewels sparkling on the right side of his breast, which had been loaned him by his accommodating manager.

The next instant Fuller was supposed (under the vivifying influence of the good fairy) to be making a "bee-line" on skates to his native land and his dear heart. The surprise of the audience at this sudden change was immense, and the next instant, as he came careering toward the foot-lights, there came forth the [illegible] round of applause that satisfied him he would succeed. Following up the advantage of a good first impression, he went through the act with unusual satisfaction to himself, and when he disappeared on one [illegible] attitude, with his face to the audience, kissing his hand, and the good fairy appeared and waved over him the Russian flag, such a tremendous shout went up that two or three of the police had suspicions that something serious was the matter. The applause continued, and the Russian Princess, from the Imperial box threw a bouquet of flowers on to the stage. Fuller stood meanwhile at the side, the manager holding the curtain ready to draw it the moment he should decide to appear, before its obtruding folds.

How Fuller saw the Emperor of Russia is graphically stated. Travelling on the post route in the one-horse cart of the country, the second night of his journey he was suddenly arrested:

The report at the station was that no traveller would be allowed to pursue his way for two or more days. A courier had passed along, announcing that the Emperor was on the road, moving toward the Black Sea, and all the horses were of course at his command. The best ones (and all were bad enough) were stabled and groomed. Fuller congratulated himself that he would at least have the satisfaction of seeing the grand personage, who, according to his friend at Katherinoff, had hired him at great expense to come to his capital. He hung about the post station, for there was no house but the stables and inn, and awaited the result. The contemplated arrival of the Czar had a singular effect upon the people. It appeared as if they envied the very horses that were to drag the carriage in his suit. There was a veneration and almost worship displayed which Fuller could not wholly resist; and he began to look for the Emperor's arrival with almost as much anxiety as did his glorious majesty's subjects. The third night, about twelve o'clock, Fuller heard a noise in the court-yard, sprang to the window. It was moonlight made dim by passing heavy clouds. He caught a glimpse of a dozen tall men on horseback, their steel breast-plates and splendid uniforms half concealed under heavy cloaks; their helmets glistened for a moment; they gave some directions in a low voice and dashed on. The next moment all the groomed post-horses were arranged in the road. Presently a carriage dashed up, the horses were instantly changed, another moment came along with the same result, until some thirty, all apparently exactly alike were thus mysteriously despatched. In one of these carriages, no outsider knew which one, was the Emperor of all the Russias, possibly asleep. It was a dramatic performance, and impressed upon the minds of the simple Russians that "the father" was indeed a god. The mystery attending the whole movement inspired Fuller's democratic republican soul with a feeling of awe and reverence that he did not suppose could be called forth by any human being.

A resolution was presented in the Senate of Maine last week to give Mrs. Betsy Reynolds a pension during her life. The member who introduced it made the following statement: Mrs. Reynolds, widow of John Reynolds, of Burnham, sent four sons, two sons-in-law, and one grandson to the war; neither of them returned to tell their story. They all died defending the Union and the flag. When the war closed she was left with thirty-one orphan grand children, made so by the war. Her only surviving son, who is lame, volunteered, but was rejected because of his lameness. Mrs. Reynolds is now depending on her own labor for her livelihood. Seven of her orphan grand children are in the Bath Asylum.

The Commissioner of Agriculture says that much money, time and labor have been expended in endeavoring to make the foreign grape a success in the Atlantic States; but all such efforts have proved failures. The Commissioner thinks that east of the Rocky Mountains no climate has yet been found suitable for the continued and healthy growth of the foreign grape.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Monday, April 11th, 1870

Gold at New York to-day is quoted at 11[illegible]

Legal Tenders are quoted here at 87[illegible]

We had the week opening upon a better trade than had been anticipated. There are quite a number of buyers upon the market, not only from the Wallamet valley but from Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. Dry Goods are comparatively active but without any changes in quotations. Much of the hesitancy about buying, observable for the last two weeks and attributable to the [illegible] have worn off, and interior dealers are now laying in for spring stocks, and our wholesale [illegible] kept busy to fill orders. [illegible] The easing of [illegible] stimulated purchases [illegible] than heretofore. Much of the [illegible] in this line, is doubtless [illegible] to the late reduction in freighting rates on the Columbia. Hardware of all descriptions remains [illegible], without change in the quotations. Dealers are determined to hold to the figures ruling before the advance in San Francisco, so that whatever goods there may be, shall come to this city rather than to the Bay. AGRICULTURAL GOODS. There is an increasing demand for seasonable farming utensils, but business is unquestionably retarded by the continued heavy rains which prevent the commencement of active farming operations.

The Produce Market continues in a lethargic condition, without any apparent indication of an immediate improvement. The receipts from the Wallamet to-day were Apples, 55 bxs; Bacon, 28 cs; Eggs, 26 bxs; Flour, 222 qr sks; Pork, 10 bbls; Potatoes, 61 sks; Tallow, 3 cs; Wheat, 720 sks

Matters in the Interior.

The Albany Register of Saturday says: "Business generally in this city has been very quiet during the week. There has been no large receipts in the produce line, and prices are firm at old quotations, with no immediate prospect of higher rates. The continued fall of rain, having deterred many of our farmers from getting their ground ready for planting, has had rather a dispiriting effect upon them, which is felt to a greater or lesser extent by our tradesmen. A few days of pleasant weather without rain would clear up 'cloudy faces,' and help business matters amazingly."

Mining Intelligence.

From the Boise Chronicle of the 2d inst. we clip the subjoined paragraph.

Reports from this section continue favorable. Messrs. Lambing & Co. have made a run of six and a half days for three men—or eighteen days' work for one man—and cleaned up over $344, and yet their "riffles," in the sluice boxes were not in a fix which would warrant a regular clean up. In reality one man was at work on the ditch very nearly all the time. Over two thousand pounds of provisions, besides tools have been sent up to these mines by Litell & Plume. Another lot of provisions has been sent up by Walker, Bartley & Co. Still another lot of provisions has been sent to these diggings by Alexander & Co. Litell & Plume's hydraulic will be in working order within two weeks, and shortly after every claim now located on the river will be in full blast. A considerable number of Chinamen are at work on the low bars, making from $2 50 to $5 00 per day according to their own reports. Hundreds of other low bars, which are unoccupied, are known to prospect as well as those now worked by the Chinamen. Coarse gold has also been found in quantities on the upper claims, and if those mines were five hundred miles from Boise City they would undoubtedly create a stampede.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: "Not a day passes away now that does not leave a less number of miners in our midst. Quite a number left for the old camps yesterday, and several have arranged to leave for Cedar Creek, to-day. The weather is warm and pleasant, and the miners and fortune seekers are on the rush. In a short time we expect to see a constant stream of dust pouring from the mines to exchange for merchandise and the products of our valley."

The Third Volume of this Periodical begins with the January number. In this number will be commenced a new Serial Story entitled "The Rolling Stone," by George Sand, which will be the greatest work of this great novelist, and one of the most readable stories ever produced.

The Steel Portraits and Biographies of Prominent and Representative Western Men, which have proved so popular and distinctive a feature of the Magazine, will be continued. In addition to the above, The Western will contain articles in Prose and Poetry from an able corps of Regular Contributors, among whom are the best writers in the West.

Republican Territorial Convention.

To the Republican Voters of Washington Territory: By an Act of Congress, approved March 3, 1869, the Delegate to which this Territory will be entitled in the Forty Second Congress of the United States, is to be elected on the first Monday, being the 6th day of June, 1870.

It is respectfully recommended to the several counties to hold their Primaries on the 2d and their County Conventions on the 9th day of April.

The Committee would urgently request every republican to attend the primary meetings and elect as such delegates true friends of the Republican cause, the cause of Freedom and Progress, the cause which will in the future as in the past, prove to the best interests of the whole people.

We call upon all Republicans to remain firmly united and under no circumstances to allow disorganizing influences to divide and endanger the success of the Republican party. Everything now indicates the success of our party at the ensuing election.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, un[illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, an you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure
